The season that I like the best is summer. Summer is Fun with the warm weather, hopefully this year I will get a job. I really want a job so I can make money, because theres some things I want to buy.

Organization/Purpose: Score 1-

- Controlling idea is missing: Is it “summer is fun” or “Hopefully this year I will get a job”?
- No transitional are used: “because” links two ideas, but the paragraph contains no transitions connecting summer to getting a job.
- There is an introductory sentence but no concluding sentence.

Evidence/Elaboration: Score 1

- Support is minimal: “warm weather” and “I want to buy things” are the only specifics about the two topics of summer and getting a job.
- No elaborative techniques or specific details are provided.

Conventions: Score 1

- The essay contains only four sentences: two of them are incorrectly formed. One has a comma splice linking two unrelated ideas, and the other is a fragment beginning with an adverbial transition (“because”).
 - The four sentences contain errors in comma use, capitalization, apostrophe use, and subject-verb agreement.
